The Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, Robert Alexander Lindsay, will lecture February 8 at 8:15 p.m. at The Cleveland Museum of Art. He will discuss THE NATIONAL ART COLLECTIONS FUND OF GREAT BRITAIN, an organization established over fifty years ago under the Chairmanship of Lord Crawford's father to encourage financial assistance to British museums. He will describe what the organization has done to preserve the national art treasures of Great Britain and will illustrate the Fund's most interesting purchases with slides. Comments on the current art market, connoisseurs, collectors and popular taste will also be included in the talk.

Lord Crawford is a Trustee of the British Museum, the Tate Gallery and the National Gallery in England. In addition he is Chairman of the Royal Fine Art Commission and a Member of Standing Commission of Museums and Galleries.

His Museum lecture is open free to the public.
